

Learning Fail2Ban

Fail2ban is a Python script that uses the GPL v2 license. It is a (filter) that (action) that can be used to block IP addresses. It can be used to block IP addresses that are used to access the system. It can be used to block IP addresses that are used to access the system. It can be used to block IP addresses that are used to access the system.

- It can be used to block IP addresses that are used to access the system.
- It can be used to block IP addresses that are used to access the system.
- It can be used to block IP addresses that are used to access the system.

It can be used to block IP addresses that are used to access the system. It can be used to block IP addresses that are used to access the system. It can be used to block IP addresses that are used to access the system.

GitHub: <https://github.com/fail2ban/fail2ban>

Configuration

- Configure fail2ban to use route instead of iptables to block connections